McGILL PLAYS OTTAWA COLLEGE IN FIRST HOME & HOME GAME AT OTTAWA TO-MORROW NIGHT

HOCKEY CLUB WILL RUN SPECIAL EXCURSION

Garnet and Grey Stronger Than Expected—Marty Walsh
of Ottawa Pros. Will Referee—Much Excitement in Ottawa Over Coming Game

The result of the Ottawa-Laval game last Friday places Ottawa College and McGill on equal footing in the Intercollegiate League, both having won their respective sections. Ottawa College has a strong team. A team which can trounce Laval by thirteen goals to one must be taken seriously. Besides being a splendid aggregation Ottawa has several stars. Heffernan at cover point is a second Basil Frith, being a wonderful stick handler and plays exactly the same style of game. Chartram on right wing is also a star, being as effective a player as any forward in the Intercollegiate League.

The Ottawa team for Tuesday's game in the Capital will likely be as follows:

Goal—Brischois.
Point—O'Leary.
Cover—Heffernan.
Rover—Poulin.
Centre—Kelly.
Right—Chartram.
Left—Nagle.

The McGill team will be picked to-morrow night after the practice. But the squad taken to Ottawa will be: Warwick, Rankin, Hughes, Forman, Thompson, Masson, Wilson, Scott, Ryley and Davidson. The last five mentioned players are Ottawa boys and will be playing on home ice which is decidedly to McGill's advantage.

McGill goes to Ottawa to-morrow with a wonderful record to clinch the Intercollegiate title. To win in Ottawa will be no easy matter. Ottawa College undoubtedly has a strong team and the situation is summed up in the wire received after the game from Manager Roberts—"Ottawa College stronger than Varsity."

It is going to be a hard fight for the boys in "Red and White" but we've got to win. Often in the past a hearty McGill yell at a critical stage of a game has changed defeat into victory. See that YOU are one of those to give the McGill yell with heart and soul to-morrow night in Dey's Arena, thus doing your share towards the winning of the Canadian Intercollegiate Championship, for the first time in seven long years.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Chester Payne and Cecil Ross, two grads in Ottawa, are organizing for a large turnout of McGill alumni.

Marty Walsh, who will referee the game, was an Intercollegiate player, figuring on the Queen's team before entering the professional arena.

Intercollegiate hockey is booming in Ottawa. Advertisements of the Ottawa-McGill match were towed around the rink at half time on Saturday night at the Interprovincial game and were received with shouts of "Ottawa!" and "McGill-I-I-I!"

The team will be guests at the Grand Union Hotel while in Ottawa.

THREE CANDIDATES FINALLY REGISTERED FOR THE PRESIDENCY

Special Interviews Secure
Interesting Statements
From Nominees

Secretary Stevenson and President Ramsey made official announcement of the candidates who have entered the field for the presidency of the Students' Co-operative Association under the Students' Council. Such a scheme would undoubtedly bring in more than $1,000 annually to swell the coffers of the Students' Council. In the matter of athletic supplies such a large amount of which is necessary for the athletic season—in all its branches, the Council would very materially benefit from having the disposition of athletic supplies under its special supervision.

Owing to the fact that the election will take place next Tuesday, the candidates for the presidency of the Students' Council, concerning the supply of free uniforms for athletic teams, a representative of the Daily called upon him to ascertain if his views had undergone any change since the publication of his platform.

Mr. MacNaughton declared that he did not see how any misunderstanding could possibly have arisen in that connection. He had already placed himself upon record through the medium of the Daily as strongly favoring the supply of free uniforms to members of McGill's athletic teams, and he was fully prepared to support that stand.

If it had been reported in certain quarters that he had in the slightest degree changed his attitude in regard to that or any other matter, such statements were not only erroneous and unauthorized, but absolutely untrue. His platform had already been published in outline, and he would stand by it in defeat or victory.

Presidency of the Students' Council

Now that the nominations for the presidency of the Council have closed and the various organizations are doing their utmost to get the undergraduates in line for the polls a week from Tuesday, it remains for the electorate to carefully weigh the qualifications of the respective candidates. The importance of selecting the candidates best fitted for the position cannot be overestimated. Looking at the matter entirely apart from the men who are in the field it is surely pertinent to lay down certain standards to which the successful candidate can be expected to conform.

The Students Council is, first and foremost, an executive to deal with financial affairs. The disposition of all undergraduate funds and the careful supervision of the manner in which these funds are spent require an amount of business ability and steady executive power which certainly cannot be despised. The man who is to keep a watchful eye on all branches of undergraduate activity and exercise a nice discrimination in the matter of the claims of the various clubs must have considerable executive and business experience, else the task will prove to him exceedingly arduous. It may be said, of course, that the president need share only a part of the Council's responsibilities when he has, as colleagues, such a number of representative leaders. Even so it cannot be denied that on the shoulders of the president devolves the burden of actual initiative and, to quite a considerable extent, the dictation of the Council's policy. It can, therefore, be laid down as the first qualification that the president must have steady executive ability and either business experience of a natural predilection towards financial matters.

A qualification almost as necessary as the first is a comprehensive knowledge of undergraduate affairs, to be gained only by a wide range of experience and sympathy. The president should have come into intimate contact with at least one main branch of student activity. Besides this he should have displayed interest in the welfare and progress of all principal student enterprises. In other words, he must be a recognized success as a prominent executive man in some organization and above all he must be an ARDENT MCGILL MAN, one whose only aim and whose chief reward is to accomplish something of positive and lasting value to his Alma Mater. By "an ardent McGill man" we do not mean one who is fond of ostentatiously disanting on his achievements and devotion but rather one who lets his deeds speak for themselves.

Next to the administrative capacity and knowledge of student affairs in general, the quality which is of particular importance in this election is PROGRESSIVENESS. Any one who has given the most cursory attention to present-day conditions at McGill knows full well that the University is undergoing a transitional epoch and that the signs of great change are everywhere encountered. The fact of the matter is that the undergraduate body is about to conform to an entirely new order of things. The era of the Greater McGill, inaugurated last fall, is already being re-echoed in all departments of the University. The man who is to be the official head of the undergraduates must be thoroughly impregnated with the spirit of the new era and must give himself over to a contemplation of NEW NEEDS and NEW IDEAS. The spirit of reform is upon us and we cannot afford to elect an apostle of the old creed.

A qualification which asserts itself more and more as the years go by and a qualification which is already an essential is ability to speak in public in a forcible and attractive manner. The President of the Students' Council is required to officiate at almost all university functions and receptions. The prestige and effect which prompt and able public utterance can secure are amply attested by the happy manner in which this year's president conducted himself on all important public occasions. Ability to speak in public will not be regarded an unnecessary asset for the president when it is realized that the absence of such a faculty on his part is an unfavorable reflection on the whole university. To use his administrative capabilities to the best advantage, to heighten the importance and influence of his office, to further a policy of progressiveness and reform, to be always an able and effective advocate and representative of the undergraduates, the President of the Council must be a SPEAKER OF CONSIDERABLE ABILITY. This quality is being recognized and taken into consideration more and more in the most modern and best organized universities on the continent. It is for this reason that we rather lament the Council's official frown on campaign meetings.

Social aptitude is a pre-requisite for the Presidency of the Students' Council. The most important event of the university social season comes under his immediate cognizance and management. The Alma Mater Dance organization needs at its head one who is generally recognized as possessing in an eminent degree those qualities of finesse and polish which go to make up that exquisite being—"the college social success." Besides this, of course, there are the well-nigh innumerable social functions of all kinds at which a good showing and a favorable impression made by the Council's president goes far to contribute to the legitimate prestige of his office.

That the president of the Council be well-known and popular goes without saying. Affability in manner and general interest in undergraduates, individually as well as collectively, are certainly not inconsistent with due propriety and dignity. The fact that the Council is in a sense a tribunal of justice and an intermediary between the faculty of students on the one hand and between "town and gown" on the other renders a firm judicial capacity, allied with a knowledge of human nature and broad-mindedness, another qualification for the ideal president.

It will be impossible for any candidate to combine all the above qualifications, so the duty for the elector is to DETERMINE FOR HIMSELF the candidate who approximates most nearly to the standard set up. There will probably be a great deal of canvassing on all sides during the week. Such is inevitable in any campaign but particularly in one which will probably afford no opportunity for the electorate to hear the candidates themselves set forth their ideals and platform. Such being the case we would urge the friends and supporters of each candidate to organize immediately if they have not done so already. While the principle of biased canvassing is a doubtful one, still we are forced to countenance it under existing circumstances. The only hope is that all the men nominated will have organizations of equal strength so that in each case the canvassing results will be nullified.

Fortunately for the welfare of McGill all three nominees are excellent men for the presidency. Indeed it is safe to say that fortune could not have picked out any other trio which in general popularity and ability would have been comparable to Messrs. McNaughton, Sargent and Gillmor.

Wherein all Should be Interested

There is going on at present a task the successful completion of which will require a great deal more interest than has been hitherto been evinced. The song-book committee are spending much time and energy in an endeavor to compile something which will mark an epoch at McGill which will be of sufficient merit to gain recognition all over Canada. Their plans for this book involve innovations and improvements which if carried out will produce a song-book of exceptional interest and value.

The committee recently offered a special prize for the best McGill song contributed before March first. Besides this a call was made for suggestions. The answers to these requests have been all too few and the committee wish to impress upon all McGill men that unless they "come across" with an abundance of suggestions and co-operation in the immediate future they will have themselves to blame if the book fails to come up to expectations. Of this, however, there is little chance because there are men on the committee who are sacrificing much in behalf of the task. Nevertheless ASSISTANCE, SUGGESTION, and CO-OPERATION are wanted, and wanted in a hurry. If you have ideas on the subject do not be afraid to submit them. If you have the proper kind of spirit you will submit these ideas and by so doing have the satisfaction of contributing to what will be A BIG ASSET TO COLLEGE LIFE.

Watch That Championship!

The hockey team has won the "big three" honours but the Canadian Inter-Collegiate title is still in the balance. As a matter of fact this is the dangerous period of the season. The merits of Ottawa College is undisputed after last Friday's game and to underestimate their strength will only breed disaster.

The atmosphere of victory created by four wins in twenty-four hours has not yet been dissipated. To have the hockey honours snatched away after winning four straight games in the Intercollegiate League would be hard to bear. But there is no reason why we should lose these honours. The university team is able to stand up against any other amateur organization in the country if its form and support are at their best. But eliminate either or both of these elements and you jeopardize the chance of making even a fair showing. To beat Ottawa McGill must be in form and must have lots of enthusiastic support.

Remember the special excursion which will be run to Ottawa to-morrow!

McGill men should not miss the chance of a good outing during which they will be able to help bring home the REAL UNADULTERATED HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP! See that you sign up with Pud Argue or one of his representatives before five o'clock to-day! Only $3.35 and consider what it means!

EDITORIAL NOTE.

Queen's has been bidding fair to duplicate McGill's number of successes of a fortnight ago. A Championship on Friday in Montreal and another in Toronto on the following night is a record which should atone for the reverses of the past season. Queen's won the debate by a clear-cut margin, displaying marked superiority in all departments. While their win at the assault-at-arms was by a narrower margin still McGill's representatives are unanimous in paying tribute to their superiority. Here's to Queen's for honours well-earned!

FOURTH TEAM LOSES TO HUNTINGDONITES BY ONE-SIDED SCORE

McGill Swamped on Strange
Ice -- Hockey Faster
Than Score

The McGill fourth hockey team lost in Huntingdon by the score of 14-3. Both teams played good hockey, but the home team being used to their own ice had a decided advantage. The ice is exceedingly small, and for this reason the fourth team did not show up to their best.

The game started off fast, and after a few minutes of play Hall made a rush, passed to Steen at right wing who scored the first goal. Soon afterwards Huntingdon scored, and soon showed that they were familiar with the rink and the peculiar angle at which the nets were set, by scoring from almost any angle at the side. The play was very even, but Huntingdon got seven past in the first half. Just before half time Ross got through the Huntingdon team alone and scored a neat one for McGill.

The second half started off fast, our men doing their best to even up the score, and their play showed that each man was individually superior to their opponents, but they could not find the nets, nor could they use the boards the men were so close together on the ice. Huntingdon too scored seven goals during the second half and despite the hard work of the whole team McGill only scored one point just before full time, the score standing 14-3 at full time.

McCall played a splendid game throughout, outplaying any one else on the ice, and Nicholson ran him a close second. The opposing team played the old-fashioned game of playing the boards and lifting the puck. These lifted shots on goal from a distance out are hard to stop and on account of the poor light most of the goals were scored on this kind of shots. The play was kept fairly clean by the referee who was strict, ruling off six men in each half.

The teams lined up as follows:
McGill Huntingdon.
Burroughs Goal Hain
Waugh Point Starke
Hall Cover Sellar
Nicholson Rover Rowat
Steen Centre MacNaughton
Ross L. wing Kelly
McCall R. wing Borrowes
Officials—Phillips and Graham.

MCGILL GRADUATES CELEBRATE TRIUMPHS IN SPLENDID STYLE

Old Boys of Winnipeg Enthusiastic Over Successes

That McGill graduates follow the happenings in their Alma Mater needs no more conclusive testimony than a telegram received on Saturday morning by President Ramsey. The telegram is from Winnipeg and dated: Feb. 24, 4.48 a. m. It is as follows: CONGRATULATIONS TO THE MEN WHO LANDED FOUR CHAMPIONSHIPS AND TO THE MEN WHO SUPPORTED THEM! FROM ENTHUSIASTIC GRADUATES WHO CELEBRATED IN OLD MCGILL STYLE AT THE GRANGE. SIGNED, GOODEVE, RYLEY, NARES, WILSON, HOOPER, HAWKINS BROS., MERRILL, HARGRAFT, KEMMILL, HARDING, COOMBS, YOUNG. WE'LL DO THE SAME THING OVER AGAIN!

Everyone of these names is familiar to McGill and represents a loyal and ardent supporter. "Chloe" Goodeve was without doubt the most effective tackler in the Canadian Intercollegiate Football League. His playing as quarter on the '09 and '10 teams was a sensational feature of the season. As a popular student and as a consistent worker he was known everywhere at McGill.

"Ben" Nares was a football player in his day but his chief call to fame was his genial manner and affability. "Ben" was graduated in '10.

Both the Hawkins brothers are staunch McGill men. The elder was a McGill Rhodes scholar who distinguished himself at Oxford. "Stuart," a Sei '11 man, earned for himself the reputation of being one of the most devoted and able executive men in the University.

And so on with the rest. It would be difficult to pick out such a number of representative "good heads" as Merrill, Hargraff, Kemmill, Harding, Coombs, Young, Hooper, Wilson, Hawkins Bros., Goodeve, Ryley and Nares.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

MEDICAL SENIORS NOTE! The members of the graduating class in Medicine are notified that appointments for sittings for graduation photographs may now be made at Rice's Studio. Please make arrangements for sittings as early as possible.

The Return of the Prodigal

The Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania recently adopted the Honor System.

Brown's baseball schedule, which was recently announced, consists of twenty-five games, of which only six are played away from home, and includes two games apiece with Harvard, Yale, Princeton and Amherst, and one game with Pennsylvania.

QUEENS RETAINS INTERCOLLEGIATE BOXING & WRESTLING CHAMPIONSHIP McGILL ONLY WINS TWO EVENTS

Toronto Varsity Took Second Place McGill Third, the Latter Securing Two Firsts

The Annual Intercollegiate Assault at Arms took place in the Toronto University Gymnasium on Saturday last, and was, in the opinion of all, an unparalleled success. Every bout with the exception of two or three was closely contested and a spirit of true sportsmanship prevailed the whole competition.

Owing to the fact that there were only three competing teams, it was necessary to draw byes. McGill secured byes in the bantam and welterweight events. Queen's in the featherweight and middleweight, and Varsity in the lightweight and heavyweight.

The preliminary bouts were contested in the afternoon, beginning at 2.30, and the finals in the evening at 8 p.m. This hardly gave sufficient time to the winners of the first series to recover from their exertions before entering for their second bout with a man who is perfectly fresh. It is to be hoped that in future, where there are only three teams competing, some arrangement may be made to lengthen the period of time between the preliminaries and finals.

BOXING.
BANTAM WEIGHT (115 lbs.) Preliminary bout. Dawson of Queen's beat Montague of Toronto.

This bout was very fast, and both contestants appeared to be in good shape. Dawson, who was the stronger, at first led more for the body and used both hands to good effect. During the first round Montague received several stiff punches which seemed to stagger him, but towards the end he recovered and finished strong. In the second and third rounds Dawson was more aggressive, and kept his right going at the body, but the Varsity man did some good stopping with his left. The decision was given in favor of Queen's.

FINALS.
Dawson (Queen's) beat Bone (McGill). This was one of the most sensational bouts of the meet and was an exhibition of really high class boxing on the part of the McGill man. Dawson, who is Bone's senior by some seven years, was the stronger and heavier. Bone was on the aggressive from the start and kept his left going at Dawson's head with very good effect, and got in some good body blows with his right. He could not stand the heavy punches of the Queen's man and during the first round was knocked down by a left to the jaw. He was allowed one minute's rest, and finished up the first round very strongly, driving Dawson back with hard lefts to the head. In the second Bone maintained his advantage, landing five blows to his opponent's one, and cleverly ducking some dangerous leads. In the third round Dawson got in some heavy blows and Bone was weakening visibly, but pluckily continued his aggressive tactics all through landing some hard lefts. He was finally knocked down by a left to the jaw and the bout ended, the decision being given to Dawson.

FEATHERWEIGHT (125 lbs.) Preliminary bout. Forbes (McGill) beat Doncaster (Toronto).

The first round was very even, Forbes leading right and left to the head, and Doncaster ducking and clinching. Forbes got in some good uppercuts when his opponent was coming in to clinch. In the second round, Forbes had the advantage, landing some heavy swings with his right and leading left to the head as before. Doncaster appeared to be weakening in the third round, but boxed pluckily. The decision was given to Forbes.

FINALS.
Forbes (McGill) beat Hagry (Queen's). This was a very clean, fast bout, both competitors being of very similar build, and the standard of boxing being of a high order. Forbes used his brains and showed his ability to change his style of attack to suit the defence. As in the preliminary bout he landed some hard lefts and rights on Hagry's face, following up his advantages well, and showing very good speed and style. Hagry put up a hard fight and the whole bout was very well contested. The decision went to the McGill man.

LIGHTWEIGHT (135 lbs.) Preliminary bout. Dewar (Queen's) beat Page (McGill).

The contestants in this bout had the appearance of being unevenly matched, Dewar being some 5 pounds heavier than Page. In the first round Dewar, who is a remarkably fast hitter led his left to the head, Page returning with right and left and following up. Dewar landed his left on the jaw and Page fell back, striking his head on the iron post of the ring. This completely dazed him and he was allowed one minute's rest. On the continuation of the round it was seen that he had not entirely recovered from the blow on his head, and he was knocked out with a clean straight left to the jaw. Considering this is Page's first season with the Boxing Club he showed very good form, and, having the natural qualities, should, with more experience, turn out a first rate boxer.

FINALS.
Dewar (Queen's) beat Mutch (Varsity).

This bout was very fast and the contestants did not show their boxing abilities so much as their fighting capacity. From the very first Mutch started to mix it up and in the second round both men were very weak and Mutch was bleeding profusely from a cut over the eye. In the third round it was a case of who could stand the most punishment, and both men were pretty well all in, Dewar being slightly the fresher. An extra round was decided upon, whereas neither man was in a fit state to continue. At the close of the round the decision was given in favour of Dewar.

WELTERWEIGHT (145 lbs.) Preliminary bout. Davison (Varsity) beat Anderson (Queen's).

This bout was very fast, Davison being on the aggressive from the start and driving Anderson back to the ropes on several occasions. Anderson put up a plucky fight, but clinched a great deal. In the third round he was very weak and Davison might have secured a knockout had he so desired.

FINALS.
Davison (Varsity) beat Mustard (McGill).

The bout as a whole was rather slow. As before, Davison was the aggressor, but Mustard used his left to stop him. On several occasions, however, his blow did not land, and he was forced to clinch.

MIDDLEWEIGHT (155 lbs.) Preliminary bout. Crosley (McGill) beat Sutherland (Varsity).

This was one of the hardest and cleanest bouts of the meet and created great enthusiasm. At the beginning of the first round Crosley forced matters and kept right and left going at Sutherland's head and body, finally clinching. After some sparring Crosley again drove his opponent back against the ropes and knocked him out. After taking a minute's rest, Sutherland resumed the bout, but Crosley continued to press, driving his left to the head and uppercutting with his right. In the second round the fighting was slower, and there was a considerable amount of clinching, the honors being evenly divided.

The third round saw a mix-up, both men going in to secure a knockout. Crosley if anything had the advantage, working his uppercuts to good effect when close in, but both men were visibly exhausted. Up to this point Crosley had the advantage in points, but Sutherland landed several heavy blows to the head just before the gong went, and an extra two minutes was decided upon. Sutherland had the best of it at first, driving in with left and right, but Crosley recovered and secured a knockout, winning the bout.

FINALS.
Moxley (Queen's) beat Crosley (McGill).

The bout opened with both men sparring cautiously. Moxley landed his left to the head and Crosley rushed him. He was met with a left to the jaw which, in his already exhausted condition, was sufficient to upset him. He continued his rushing tactics and drove Moxley back to the ropes landing a couple of blows to the head. He was knocked down a second time by Moxley's left and the bout was discontinued.

HEAVYWEIGHT (175 lbs.) Preliminary bout. Donnelly (McGill) beat MacKenna (Queen's).

The bout only lasted about 30 seconds. Donnelly securing a clean knockout with his left.

FINALS.
Way (Toronto) beat Donnelly (McGill).

Way was about 48 lbs. heavier than Donnelly, but it was not until the second round that he made use of his advantage. The first round was in Donnelly's favor, but was rather slow, both men holding off cautiously. The second round saw Way more aggressive; he landed a very heavy left on Donnelly's head which considerably shook the McGill man. In the third round Donnelly got in some heavy blows and there was a considerable amount of clinching. An extra round of 2 minutes was decided on, in which Way continued to be aggressive and the decision was given in his favor.

WRISTLING.
115 LBS. CLASS—Roberts (Queen's) beat F. Cook (Varsity).

The pair were evenly matched, but Roberts took a fall from a standing position in 1 min. 2 secs. This was the only fall in the bout. FINALS—Roberts (Queen's) beat Ewart (McGill).

The two were very clever, but Roberts managed to get two straight falls in nine minutes.

125 LBS. CLASS—McKenzie (Varsity) beat Grant (McGill).

This was a very aggressive bout. The first fall went in 4 mins. 7 secs. to the Varsity boy. Afterwards McKenzie acted on the defensive, stalling his man off, never giving him a chance of getting a hold.

FINALS—McKenzie (Varsity) beat Garvock (Queen's).

Garvock showed up well, and appeared to be doing much better than his opponent throughout the bout. However, an extra round was ordered, in which, to the surprise of the spectators, McKenzie got the decision.

135 LBS. CLASS—McGregor (Queen's) beat Hughes (McGill).

McGregor was the stronger of the two but Hughes was by far the more skillful and showed his superiority throughout. In the first round Hughes got, what appeared to nearly everyone in the hall except the referee, a throw. In any case McGregor's shoulders were off the mat so the referee disallowed the throw. Hughes was again immediately on the aggressive but was unable to secure a throw, as was his opponent. The McGill supporters were very much disappointed when the decision went to McGregor, as all thought the bout was clearly Hughes'.

FINALS—McGregor (Queen's) beat Dunbar (Varsity).

McGregor outclassed his opponent and won with two straight falls in 6 mins.

145 LBS. CLASS—Foster (Queen's) beat Haynes (Varsity).

The bout was keenly contested but Foster got in a fall from a half-nelson in 5 mins. 50 secs. Foster then stalled his opponent off, no further fall occurring.

FINALS—Armitage (McGill) beat Foster (Queen's).

Foster's ribs were splintered in his previous bout and he was unable to wrestle, so Armitage won on default.

155 LBS. CLASS—Reid (Varsity) beat Hodge (McGill).

Hodge immediately attacked; he lifted his opponent into the air and was about to put him on his back on the mat when the referee ordered him to his corner to have some drops of water removed from his back. It was hard luck for Hodge, and he had the sympathies of all with him even the Varsity men. It seems extraordinary that a few drops of water should have affected the bout. In any case the referee thought so, so we must say no more about it. Hodge was again on the aggressive, but, at the call of time an extra round was ordered, to the surprise of all. Hodge again attacked, and the timing of the round was grossly mismanaged. However, the referee thought it was all right, so again we must not dispute the matter; and he also thought that Reid had won, which probably surprised Reid no less than the spectators.

HEAVYWEIGHTS—McQuay (Queen's) beat MacDougall (McGill).

McQuay was much more aggressive than "Mac," and after a rather eventful bout he got the decision.

This gave Queen's the victory with a score of 6, Varsity being second with 5, and McGill last but by no means least with 2.

FENCING.
MacKay (Queen's) beat Buckley (McGill) 5-2.

Tower (Queen's) beat Wickenden (McGill) 5-4.

Montgomery (Varsity) beat Buckley (McGill) 5-2.

Alley (Varsity) beat Wickenden (McGill) 5-1.

Alley (Varsity) beat Tower (Queen's) 5-1.

Montgomery (Varsity) beat MacKay (Queen's).

The Varsity boys were very fast and showed exceptional skill for a college competition. The McGill men have not been practicing long this year, the club only having been formed a couple of months, and taking all into consideration, they did very well.

Friday's decisive defeat of Toronto Varsity would have made any other team overconfident, but not so with Manager Roberts. He has had them hard at work all week and the team have never been working so well together before. Not only on the ice has everything been running smoothly but off the ice there is a constant feeling of good fellowship which helps very much.

The practices have been well attended and every man is in the pink of condition. Billy Wilson's elbow, which has been troubling him for some time, is now O. K. He has been putting up a great brand of hockey this year and is one of the most effective checkers in the Intercollegiate.

ORPHEUM THEATRE

Millie Ninmi Amato is the star of the famous French dancing and pantomimic sensation, "The Apple of Paris" which is to be the headline attraction at the Orpheum, next week. "The Apple of Paris" requires one sixty foot car to transport its scenery, and the production is presented in two scenes, each a complete scenic production. There is a large cast and some very splendid dancers included. Millie Amato's dancing with Sigi Coccia, the originator of the act, is said to be a marvellous exhibition of the art. There is one rather popular idea about this pantomime, and that is that the story is easily followed and well worked out, and requires no great amount of brain-fag, usually caused by pantomimes that are difficult of solution. Cliff Gordon, the famous German Scenarist, has been impersonated, possibly more times, at the Orpheum Theatre than any other famous dramatist in vaudeville, and now the Orpheum management have at last been able to secure him for a week at this house.

In a large measure Mr. De Koven has repaid to some of his earlier works, such as "Robin Hood" and "Rob Roy," in so far as he has made his music illustrate the story. Much of the dialogue is carried on by music and there are no set solos. In Philadelphia the music critics agreed that "The Wedding Trip" will easily rank with any of Mr. De Koven's earlier operas which, as everyone will doubtless remember, had such vogue as "Robin Hood" having been played for 18 years.

The librettists are Fred de Gressac and Harry B. Smith, who have written a wonderfully concise and interesting book. There are three scenes. The chief characters are Fritz, the belle of the country town, and her beau, Felix. The swain is a timid fellow who is too modest to even kiss his sweetheart. However, they marry, and in the midst of the wedding festivities, an uncle of the groom arrives from afar to inform the boy that he must immediately report to Three Cornell Seniors were hurt in an auto accident when the chauffeur, not knowing the car was in reverse gear, started the motor and backed the car over a thirty foot embankment.

SHOTS ON COAL

George Warwick deserves great credit for his hockey this year. He has played quite a few games and has not had one off night this year. It would be pretty hard to find a goal-keeper even in the N.H.A. that has such a record. On more than one occasion he has pulled a game out of a tight corner and McGill has come out victorious. We expect great things of George in these next two games.

Ramsey Rankin, our budged defence man (he is not on the Bunsen Burners) is playing stellar hockey and promised to do even better against Ottawa College but we do not think that a human possibility. Rankin is easily the best defence man in the Intercollegiate. Frith was the only man in his class.

Bill Hughes, Masson, Scott, Thompson and Smith are all feeling fit and confident of a win so by next Friday night we should hold the championship of the Intercollegiate hockey which will be very welcomed as it has not visited here for some time. A cheap excursion, a $3.35 return, will be run to Ottawa 10:00 a.m. fellows sign up. It will probably leave at 4 p.m. on Tuesday and return by special train at midnight. The team needs support and especially so in Ottawa so all up fellows, and help the team bring home the cup.

HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP STILL UNDECIDED. REMEMBER THE BIG EXCURSION TO OTTAWA TOMORROW! SIGN UP WITH PUD ARGUE OR HALL PORTER CULVER BEFORE 5 O'CLOCK ALL UP!
